DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed December 27, 2004 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2), which requires a legible copy of each cited foreign patent document; each non-patent literature publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; and all other information or that portion which caused it to be listed. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1 to 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Takemoto et al (US Patent 5,198,041).

4. Takemoto in Table 1 of columns 9-10 discloses specific shape memory alloy A16 that meets the composition recited by claims 1 to 7, and on lines 19-21 of column 7 is processed in substantially the same manner as claimed by applicants comprising the steps of casting, forging, hot rolling to a thickness of 3 mm, annealing, cold rolling to a thickness of 2 mm and annealing. Note that the additional prior art steps of casting, forging and hot rolling are not excluded by the recited transitional phrase "comprising", which is inclusive of unrecited steps. Moreover, prior art teaches cold rolling

(conventionally performed at room temperature) with a reduction ratio of 7% (within the claimed reduction range of 5 to 40%).

5. Even though prior art method teaches annealing, such would appear to be equivalent to the recited aging step since temperature and time range would appear to be similar. Note Takemoto, in general, heat treats at 400C for 15 minutes and would be within the range of 400 to 1000C from 1 minute to 2 hours recited by claim 7. Moreover, similar to present invention, Takemoto on lines 57 to 67 of column 5 further teaches mechanically working at room temperature followed by annealing at 450 - 700C to achieve better shape memory and recovery effect.

6. Although Nb carbide or an atomic ratio of Nb/C= 1 or more or 1-1.2 as recited by one or more of the claims is not disclosed by prior art, such would be expected since composition and process of making are closely met, and in absence of proof to the contrary.

7. The unapplied references have been cited to further depict the state of the art in shape memory alloys.
